

BRENDA MONTES

I am a Product Designer with 9+ years of experience making digital products. I have experience designing websites, applications (iOS & Android), mobile games, AR, VR and I've worked in advertising too.

I'm passionate about improving the product through user experience using the methodology that fits the best our project. I believe in the power of a well documented process and I've great organization skills when it comes about projects.

I'm a creative person looking for a passionate and cooperative team who believed in creating products based on user needs, balancing business but putting experience first.

I'm experienced in developing wireframes, usability tests, user research, designing responsive interfaces and interaction design. I have some experience designing UI animations and high-quality prototypes, I've worked with all types of teams mostly in Agile mode, always improving processes and Design Documentation on the go.

I enjoy a work environment that inspires me to never stop learning and where I can expand my potential.

My hobby is to illustrate, both on digital and on traditional media, I'm always looking for creative projects where it can be developed.
